

Do you find yourself lacking confidence when you approach the start line for an agility run or at an obedience trial?

Do you rely on superstitions to be successful?

Do you feel anxiety over your dogs' performance of a specific obstacle or exercise, even though you know those fears are likely to become self-fulfilling?

Then you can't afford to miss this one-of-a-kind workshop, conducted by performance coach Jeffrey Richards. Discover the mental techniques to help you get the most out of the time and effort you put into your sport.

For more than twenty years, Jeffrey Richards has been seeking out ways to understand and master the powers of the human mind. Jeff's quest for the ultimate in communication skills training has lead him to become a Communication Skills Expert, certified by the prestigious Performance Institute in British Columbia, Canada.

During his career, Jeff has traveled the world, training and speaking on this amazing technology of achievement, along the way earning certifications from four international organizations.

Too often, people are told what to do to reach their goals without being told how to do it. Using powerful techniques for modeling success, Jeff helps people learn how to do what they need to do to remove artificial limits to their success, become more positive and more charismatic, and enjoy life more. He works with with clients one-on-one and offers classes, coaching and consulting through his businesses, Peak Performance Hypnosis and Peak Performance Skills in Columbus, Ohio. Jeff's clients include athletes, law enforcement officers, teachers, professional card players, truck drivers and many other people who want to get more out of their lives...people just like you.
